Wooden started playing a rudimentary version of basketball with his three brothers Maurice, Daniel and William with a homemade basketball and a basket of tomatoes like a hoop in a barn. In 1947, his team received an invitation to the National Intercollegiate Basketball Tournament (NAIB) in Kansas City, however, he declined the invitation because the NAIB banned African American players. The concept is self-assigned. But 17 years later, after moving to Martinsville, he would lead the city's high school basketball team to the Indiana State Championship in 1927. Their basketball teams secured a record 44-15 over two consecutive seasons and titles of the Indiana Collegiate Conference. UCLA becomes the first school to earn NCAA titles with perfect 30-0 records in both years. Wooden came to UCLA to take over as head basketball coach in 1948. His sixth title in a row came after a record 30-0 season. Wooden died on June 4, 2010, four months after his 100th birthday. 1964: Wooden is named NCAA's College Basketball Coach of the Year (and again in 1967, 1969, 1970 and 1972). 1965: UCLA defeats Michigan, earning his second title of NCAA.
